Election Slated For Westerdale

The annual meeting and nominations of the Westerdale Municipality were held at Westerdale Community Hall on Saturday afternoon. Reeve Clarke occupied the chair.

The financial statement showed the district to be in a good cash condition, though the amount of uncollected taxes was somewhat large.

The expenses of the district for the past year had been cut considerably and the tax levy was shown to be $6,000.00 less than the previous year.

A motion was passed instructing the council to maintain the tax levy for school purposes, to cover any deficit from non-payment of taxes.

There was some criticism offered on the work of the council during the year.

The nominations closed showing that two divisions will be contested. In Div. 1, N. S. Clarke and Allen Hansperger were nominated, and in Div. 2, C. G. Carlson and Ed Craig. Mr. A. Hogg was elected by acclamation in Div. 3.

The election will be held on Saturday, Division 1 at Springdale School, and Division 2 at Melvin School.

The Didsbury hockey boys got the best of Crossfield last Friday to the tune of 8-3, but lost out to Carstairs on Tuesday night by 2-1.

Town Council.

The organization meeting of the town council was held in the High School on Monday evening, with Mayor Chambers in the chair.

The following committees were appointed for the year:

Public Works: Messrs. Barrett and Adshad.

Police & Licences: Messrs. Pitt and Fisher.

Finance: Messrs. Adshad and Spence.

Fire & Property: Messrs. Adshad and Pitt.

Sanitation: Messrs. Spence and Gooder.

Hospital Board: Mrs. Harder and R. Barrett.

Library Board: Mrs. Huget and Messrs. Chambers, Austin and R. Ford.

Board of Health: Dr. Clarke and Messrs. Fisher and J. V. Berscht.

The matter of uncollected taxes was thoroughly discussed, and it was decided to take some action towards the collection of arrears.

Mixed Bospiel.

The mixed bospiel proved to be very popular during the last week, and, for such an event, some real good curling was seen. The bospiel started on Tuesday evening of last week, and the finals were played on Monday evening this week.

A good gallery witnessed the games each evening. Such interest was exhibited by the ladies that we predict the lady curlers will go strong for the rest of the season.

Mountain View Annual Meeting

That very active interest is being taken in the affairs of the municipality, was evidenced by the large attendance at the annual meeting of the Mountain View Municipality held at the Odd-School of Agriculture on Saturday afternoon, about 135 ratepayers attending.

The secretary read the financial report, which showed, in spite of the depression, that the district was in a very satisfactory condition.

In the discussion on the statement it was pointed out that if the arrears of taxes were brought down to a round figure, the mill rate could be reduced.

Mr. F. S. Grisdale, M.L.A. spoke, outlining the policies of the provincial government. He stated that while the government were retrenching in their expenditures, no hope could be held out for any reduction of taxes.

The retiring councillors were all re-elected by acclamation, as follows: Division 1, J. A. Dodd; Division 5, C. B. Jensen; Division 6, W. E. Flynn.

Some Truths and Lessons

It is in times of adversity rather than of prosperity that the true character and strength of men, communities and nations is demonstrated. The world learns few lessons when things are booming and prosperity blossoms on every hand. When the sun shines and soft winds blow people are content to idle along, satisfied with things as they are. It is when the sun is hidden behind the storm clouds and the tempest rages that men, communities and nations are tested. It is then they begin to learn, bringer though the lessons may be.

Galling as the present world-wide depression undoubtedly is, bringing loss and suffering in its train, it is probably serving a useful purpose in teaching the world a few lessons and re-emphasizing a few old truths, which, in the days of their prosperity, men and nations apparently forgot; at least they ignored and gave no heed to them. Now these truths and lessons are being remembered and re-learned, and possibly, because the present world depression is more widespread and more severe than any of its predecessors, the lessons it is teaching will be taken a bit more seriously and have a more lasting and beneficial effect than ever before.

Yet these truths and lessons are as old as this old world itself. The truths are fundamental; the lessons are stern and unshakable.

One truth is that no man, no community, no nation can live unto itself alone. Not one of them is self-sufficient. Each is dependent to a greater or less extent on all others. God so made the world and every man, notwithstanding his boasted powers and strength cannot alter it. This truth is becoming more widely recognized and accepted every day this depression lasts. It, and it alone, is driving the resultant lesson home.

Another truth that is once again growing into acceptance is that mankind is of greater importance and truer worth than anything and everything that man can invent and develop. Man has used his God-given intellect and powers to invent and develop machines primarily intended to be the servants of man, to supply his needs and cater to his comforts and well-being. But in his eagerness to invent, and develop, and create a machine-age, an age that was to be all-golden for him, man has over-reached himself until now, in many ways, the machine has become the master and man the servant.

To serve a machine-age, man has built himself huge cities wherein people live together like rabbits in a warren; packed like sardines in a box. Individuals have largely lost their individuality in the mass, with initiative remaining with the few. The friendliness of the small town and the rural parts has been lost in the great cities where neighbor hardly knows neighbor. That self-respect and self-confidence and initiative inseparable from being a personality amongst one's neighbors has been largely lost in becoming a mere unit in a city's teeming population.

Children grow up today without having enjoyed childhood's rights of a natural life amidst natural surroundings; all about them is artificial, and, feeding in such surroundings and atmosphere, life itself becomes artificial.

The lesson that the world, perhaps, is beginning to learn is that we must get back to first things, and place them first in our scheme of life. The height of a city man's ambition should not be to amass greater wealth than he can profitably and beneficially use, and put forth his life's endeavors to making his city larger and larger, not necessarily greater and finer. Many are beginning to realize that the huge city is an evil, not a blessing; that man was not created to live and struggle in such surroundings. That, on the contrary, the small community is by far the happiest and the cheapest place in which to live, and that it confers advantages and pays dividends in health and contentment unknown in huge centres of populations where thousands live from hand to mouth in wretched surroundings and with little or no prospect of bettering one's conditions.

Economic conditions of this depression have driven hundreds of young men and women, attracted by the glitter of the cities, back to the old home, on the farm, in village and small town. For the time being, because world conditions are what they are, they may be denied many things they would like, not the wisest of them will stay there, and in the long run they will be the happier and better off for the staying.

A Big Undertaking

U.S. Spending $5,000 To Move Giant Tree

Uncle Sam is paying nearly $5,000 for moving a giant magnolia tree in the Mall at Washington, to prepare for road reconstruction there, in a $100,000 programme for improvement of the Mall.

The magnolia is 20 inches in circumference at base, 100 feet tall and will be moved about 100 feet from its present location near the Mall in the Mall, in a northwesterly direction, to near Fourteenth Street. This involves the moving of a disc of earth about 25 feet in diameter and five feet thick which weighs about 300 tons, in addition to the weight of the tree, not yet estimated.

It is said to be one of the biggest jobs of its kind in the world.

Paris Police Keep Quiet

Refuse To Give Out Information About Person Leaving Home

If your husband or wife deserts you in Paris, it won't do you good to go to the police about it. And that applies to a son or daughter over 21 as well.

For the missing persons' bureau at police headquarters, handling over 25,000 requests a year, keeps the secrets of people who have chosen to leave home.

Suicides, accidental deaths and crime cases are reported at once to the families of the persons concerned, but since the law does not oblige a son, daughter, husband or wife to stay at home unless he or she wants to, all police will say is "We have located Jules, or Marie, life, or she, is well and happy and does not wish you to know where he, or she, is staying."

Huge Sum For Relief

Government and municipalities of Ontario spent $15,728,000 on unemployment relief in 1920 and 1921. Hon. George S. Henry, provincial premier, told a Toronto service club recently. A total of 45,000 persons had been given employment, he said.

General Dawes

Retirement As U.S. Ambassador To Britain Is Cause Of Regret

There will be regret that Charles G. Dawes is shortly to retire as United States ambassador to Great Britain and from public life altogether. Mr. Dawes has been a useful figure in international politics of recent years. He has also been a picturesque and likeable type.

Mr. Dawes was a banker and financier when he first came into international prominence, and it is possible that he may return to this field, in his home State of Illinois. He served as a general under General Pershing with the American Expeditionary Force in the Great War, and later, as everyone knows was author of the Dawes plan for German reparations payments—later superseded by the Young Plan, and which plan, in turn, may now be drastically revised or even discarded altogether, in the light of Germany's serious economic position. Next came a turn by Mr. Dawes as Vice-President of the United States, and here he found opportunity for some of the plain speaking that has consistently marked his career. General Dawes appeared to enjoy "lecturing" the Senate at Washington.

The retiring ambassador will drop out with very real appreciation of himself at the hands of the British people of whom he has been an admirer. A year or two ago he went out of his way to publicly praise their achievement in the War and their pluck and honor in the matter of war debt payments. Mr. Dawes indeed was so outspoken on this occasion that if what he said had come from anyone else Washington might have been tempted to regard it as an "incident"—Regina Leader.

Popularize Tomato Juice

More Optimism Is Prevalent In Dominion's Western Northland Than In Other Parts Of Canada

Canada's western northland faces the coming year with more optimism than any other part of the Dominion. Developments and activities in mining and aerial transportation during the past year, indicate the opening of a new and prosperous empire on the fringes of the Arctic Circle.

Rich and vast deposits of radium-bearing ore and equally rich deposits of silver have been discovered at Great Bear Lake, 1,500 miles north of Edmonton, Alberta. Radium deposits at Kahine Point and silver deposits at Echo Bay have proved to be very valuable and could easily meet the high cost of transportation—$400 per ton, states Dr. Hugh S. Spence, Mineral Technologist of the Federal Department of Mines, in his report of his survey of the Great Bear Lake district.

Continued expansion of aerial transport and passenger service is bringing these rich mineral fields within easy distance of the outside world. Waterways, Alta., 200 miles north of Edmonton, is the nearest railway point, and one is now shipped here from the north by airplane. One of the largest airplanes in Canada, a Junkers machine built for Canadian Airways, Limited, for service in the north, may be used for freightage ore and supplies from the mineral fields this winter.

A flying base has been established at McMurray, and weekly mail deliveries are made from here to Aklavik, 1,500 miles north.

Poverty, unemployment and depression are things practically unknown in the Northwest Territories. The Eskimos at the Mackenzie delta are in a prosperous condition and are the possessors of many schooners with high-powered auxiliaries. These schooners, costing from $3,000 to $7,000 each, provide floating summer homes as the people move about the delta or along the sea coast. Credit to the natives and trappers has been cut down this year and fur prices are lower than usual, but they have ample supplies, and a good crop of fur is expected.

Canada's far north country is becoming more and more self-sustaining. Wild game provides plenty of meat for the skilled hunter and each man grows his own vegetables—the crop along the Mackenzie River last summer was the best in years. Health prevails everywhere. Doctors, who are the only professional men in the north, would starve if they were not hired by the government to give medical attention to the Indians and Eskimos, it is said.

The Northwest Territories cover two-fifths of the total area of Canada, but there are only about 1,000 whites and 5,000 natives throughout the whole country. An influx of prospectors, mining men and tourists, however, is expected in the coming summer, owing to the interest surrounding the Great Bear Lake radium discoveries. Activities in this area last year increased freightage along the Mackenzie River enormously. More than $10,000 was expended on road building and improvements at Smith Fortage, a 16-mile portage on the Mackenzie River near Fort Smith. Preparations for an active year in this district during 1932 are now underway.

Hudson's Bay Company river steamers, formerly only used for the transport of their own cargoes and the company employees, now are available for tourist travel.

Northward the tide of empire certainly makes its way. Since the time Peter Bond established a port at Lake Athabasca before 1800, when southern Alberta, British Columbia and Saskatchewan were unexplored, for many decades the tide flowed sluggishly. In recent years, however, there has been a quickening of the current, the result of which is plainly evident and which will become more so when the spring break-up raises the temporary barrier into the northland.

Style No. 624 may be had in sizes 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. Size 8 requires 1 1/2 yards of 36" material with 1/2 yard of 35-inch contrasting. And you'll be amazed at how simple it is to make it. The three-piece skirt is circular. It is attached to the bodice, that also cuts in three sections.

Other attractive fabrics for its development are wool jersey, wool crepe, wool challis and tweed-like cotton.

Canada Producers Bending Energies Forwards Finds Better Quality In Farm Production

"The markets for Canada's agricultural products for the future will tend to depend upon quality as well as quantity of production," declares Dr. J. H. Grisdale, Federal Deputy Minister of Agriculture. "Canadian producers are evidently becoming more and more conscious of this situation, bending their efforts toward the improvement of the quality of their products. Many of our agricultural products going overseas command a premium on the British and other markets." Dr. Grisdale also points out that prices for all agricultural staples are now on an export market basis, and that while these are probably not only as satisfactory as they might be, production is definitely expanding and the farmer knows exactly where he stands relative to prices, that is to say, Canadian prices are world prices, and are not likely to be seriously affected by any consistent increase in production.

Prepare Year Ahead For Dry Land Garden

Result Of Experimental Work Carried On At Lethbridge

Experimental work at Lethbridge, Alberta, shows that to ensure a fair measure of success in the kitchen garden on the dry land farm it must be prepared at least one year ahead. Superintendent W. H. Fairfield, M.Sc., LL.D., in his annual report just issued points out that it is desirable to reserve twice the area desired to apply well rotted manure to the part to be summerplowed just before ploughing; to cultivate just enough to curb weed growth; to plough about eight inches deep; to make rows wide enough apart to permit the use of the hand cultivator; and to provide a suitable windbreak on the windward (not necessarily the northward) side of the permanent garden site. Vegetables in a dry land garden usually mature earlier than on irrigated land.

Cost Of Producing Hay

Cost Estimated At Central Experimental Farm At Ottawa

The annual report of the Dominion Field Husbandman, E. S. Hopkins, B.S.A., M.S., Ph.D., contains an interesting reference to the cost of producing hay (1930) at the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa. The yield was 1.14 per acre. To produce this crop a total expenditure of $26.88 was necessary. This brought the cost of the hay to $6.10. The crop was valued at $42.42, leaving a profit of $15.55 per acre. Considered as return on manual labor the total payment on this item would be at the rate of 72 cents per acre for production and marketing. However, had the crop been marketed there would have been a further labour cost of $2.90 per ton.

AS GANDHI CAME HOME TO JAIL

Absorbed in spinning threads for homespun garments, Mahatma Gandhi, famous Indian leader, is shown on the deck of the "Pilsna" as the ship neared Bombay. The craft "prophet" of India was greeted by a riot between his supporters and opponents, in which twenty-five persons were injured. Shortly after his arrival Gandhi was imprisoned once more in Poona Jail, from which he is directing a new campaign of non-violence, which British officials are putting down with stringent methods.

Canada Is Weathering This Period Of Difficulty In Favorable Manner According To Economist

Donald M. Marvin, economist, writing on Canadian business conditions in the Royal Bank of Canada monthly news letter, says Canada is weathering this period of difficulty in a favorable manner. We reproduce his article in part.

The Canadian business situation at the end of 1931 reflects the difficulties resulting from two years of worldwide depression. There are few industries which have not been seriously affected. The decline in the price of agricultural products has been particularly severe and the difficult situation created by these conditions was further aggravated by drought in Western Canada. Gold production has continued to expand and the record established by the 1931 output is one of the outstanding features of the year. Industrial activity and construction work have been maintained in reasonable volume and employment has suffered less contraction than in many other countries. Canada, however, is dependent upon foreign purchases for the disposition of a large part of her products and has keenly felt the decreased purchasing power of many of her customers. In addition, Canadian industrialists have had to contend with the confusion resulting from numerous adjustments in her foreign exchange relationships.

The volume of agricultural production was considerably reduced as a result of extreme drought conditions in the Prairie Provinces, particularly in the southern sections of Saskatchewan. Wheat and other crops were severely damaged and farmers in the affected areas did not harvest sufficient quantities to meet their own requirements. Alberta and the northern districts of Saskatchewan and Manitoba had a more successful year, but the Western wheat crop alone is 100 million bushels smaller than in 1929, a year of moderate harvests only. Conditions in Eastern Canada and British Columbia were more favorable and some crops created new records. Apples and potatoes are so plentiful that their disposal has presented a problem; the tobacco crop in Ontario is a bumper one of splendid quality. Prices for all farm products have declined to very low levels and, with the reduced crops in the West, the value of Canadian field crops shows a serious reduction from previous years, being officially estimated for 1931 at $421,250,000 as compared with $651,953,400 in 1930 and $948,981,400 in 1929.

Livestock and dairy farmers had excellent pasturage and plenty of feed for their herds. Increased interest in dairying has been shown in Alberta and Saskatchewan, and butter production has been greatly expanded. In Saskatchewan, output for the first ten months of the year exceeded 17,000,000 pounds, an increase of 35 per cent. over the corresponding period of 1930. This total is greater than the highest previous full year's output for Saskatchewan, 1,157,400 pounds in the previous year. The export of cattle to England has also been heavier than in many years. Trial shipments were also made to France and Belgium. In order to provide a regular supply of high-grade stock for export, the market for Ontario Government has arranged for the finishing during the winter of selected animals from Western Canada by Ontario farmers.

Supplies of wheat are still large but are somewhat reduced from last year. Export shipments increased in volume toward the end of the year and prices have shown an upward trend. A substantial reduction in the large world stocks of wheat and the return of prices to a profitable level would do much to re-establish Canadian agriculture on a satisfactory basis.

The rapid expansion in gold output was the outstanding feature of the Canadian mining industry last year. In 1930, the value produced was $43,423,000; for 1931, the total for all Canada is placed at $55,000,000. Ontario production alone equaled the Dominion total in 1930. Quebec, the second largest gold producing province of the Dominion, doubled its output, the total reaching $6,000,000 as compared with $2,850,170. Manitoba and British Columbia also report increased production. Established mines greatly expanded their output during the year; mill capacities were increased and great improvements made in methods of recovery. New mines have entered the ranks of the shippers, and, in several instances, old properties, where production had become unprofitable, are again being worked. Exploration and prospecting work have been pushed forward vigorously and many promising finds have been reported in new areas in Quebec, Ontario, Manitoba and British Columbia. The prospective development of these areas promises continued expansion in this industry.

Canada has been fortunate in maintaining her production and general business activities at present levels where other nations are faced with conditions of the greatest difficulty. Unemployment and its accompanying hardships have been felt less in Canada than in most countries. Promising features in the present economic outlook include the healthy condition of savings deposits, the strong technical position of Canadian manufacturers and a prosperous gold mining trade has been reflected in the falling off in the volume of current loans and clearing house returns. The most difficult situation in Canada is that of agriculture. A revival of world trade and a return of profits to agriculture must precede any general return of prosperity to this country, but Canada is weathering this period of difficulty in a favorable manner and will be in an admirable position to participate in the first international advance.

Low Cream Prices Explained.

The following is a brief summary of the market situation, and why it has been necessary to go to such a ridiculous price for butterfat.

The result has been very disastrous and very disappointing to everybody concerned, as it was hoped that the price levels started out with in November would be maintained at least until the heavier production in the early summer.

The chief cause which has been instrumental in bringing about this change is the increased production all across Canada. The weather in Ontario and Quebec has been the mildest they have had for years, and even on the Prairies the increase in production is beyond the wildest expectations of anyone in the industry. The three prairie provinces are showing an increase of well over five million pounds for each province during the year 1931, and Canada will have an increase of beyond twenty-five to thirty million pounds for the same period.

The London market began to go down in December, which reflected on the values in Montreal, and the highest price obtainable in Montreal and Toronto is 17 cents, with 3½ cents freight from here to those cities. When this happened, Manitoba and Saskatchewan commenced shipping their butter into Vancouver on consignment, which meant that that market was rapidly reduced to the basis of Montreal and Toronto, and at the present time they are making sales there of carloads of 40's at 16 and 16 1-4 cents, f.o.b. Vancouver. Deduct from this the freight of 1.34 cents to Vancouver, and it will be realized that the values in carloads are not more than 14 1-2 cents, and since there is a surplus in Alberta, the various dealers have been reducing prices here in order to get as much as possible of the local trade.

As a result, it has been decidedly impossible to get away from these consequences, and still be able to carry on with anything better than the price offered. The producers will realize that this state of affairs cannot continue very long, and it is believed that if they can manage to see it through for a short time, the situation will gradually improve again.

Prices for export, of course, depend on the exchange situation between Great Britain and Canada, and these things are beyond control, no one knowing when things will get back to normal.

On Friday evening last a complete surprise was performed when about forty or fifty friends and neighbors batted their way through snowbanks with sleighs, cars and buggies, to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. W.O. Miller, and Mrs. Miller's mother and father, before they left for their new home, a section farm west of Didsbury. The evening was spent with the good old game of "500" and midnight brought many good cakes and sandwiches. After a few more hands at cards the party dispersed, wishing their old friends the best of luck and regretting to lose such good neighbors.

The local badminton club started a series of home-and-home tournaments in the Didsbury Opera House on Wednesday last, when Innisfail were the visitors.

The teams were as follows: Innisfail: Dr. Williams, Mrs. Green, Mr. and Mrs. Willis, Mrs. Wain, Miss Kremer, Miss Hunter, Mr. Stevens and Mr. Warren. Didsbury: Mrs. Sharp, Mrs. McRoy, Mrs. Ranton, Mrs. Dooley, Miss Terry, and Messrs. A. Reiber, A. Merton, R. Ford, R. Beresch.

In the first game, Innisfail took the event with a score of 4-2, winning the mixed doubles, and ladies singles, men's singles, and ladies doubles, while Didsbury won the men's doubles and mixed doubles.

Innisfail, Olds, Didsbury, and Carstairs are entered in the competition.

After the game the teams gathered at the home of Mrs. Sharp, where the local club members served delicious refreshments.

On Tuesday evening the local team played a return game with Innisfail. They met a team much stronger in numbers, Innisfail having fresh players for each event.

The final score was 6-4 in favor of Innisfail.

"Let's Go Places With Jimmy."

James Cagney, co-starred with Loretta Young in "Taxi!" the Warner Bros. production which comes to the Didsbury Opera House on Monday only, will be a gangster no more. Such are the revolutionary tidings from Hollywood.

In this new vehicle Cagney, late "The Public Enemy" and "Smart Money," plays an honest young taxi driver, while Loretta Young will appear in the role of a cafeteria cashier.

"The setting of this play is that part of New York City which lies between 34th and 40th Streets, west of Eighth Avenue. The characters are the 'younger generation' of that noisy, and overcrowded section. They are not crooks or gangsters" — take note of this — "but honest, hard-working young people who live their lives to the fullest, obeying laws of their own moral and ethical codes as do their more fortunate brothers and sisters on Park Avenue. 'Taxi!' is being played this week in a first run house in Calgary.

Community Newspapers.

The influence of community newspapers in relation to metropolitan dailies is often a point of discussion. It is worth reading the comment on this topic by Arthur Brisbane, the American columnist.

"The smaller newspapers of the country are the most important newspapers and incidentally in proportion to their circulation their advertising is the biggest and their advertising rates the lowest in the country. They are read through from end to end. Every copy of circulation always means an entire family, not a family that lives in one room with a cat opener, but a family that owns its own home and land around it, at least ninety times out of a hundred a family that buys everything from the roof on the house to the cement on the cellar floor, from the hat on mother's head to the shoes on the boy's feet. The service that their publishers render to the public is in my opinion, the most important service rendered by any class of citizens in Canada. The country editors are the distributors of information; they reach the minds of the boys who leave the farms, and they are the nation's mental police force."

Overnight Bedroom Sleeping Cars Popular

Please reserve bedroom on Canadian Pacific 11:59 p.m. train for Toronto, "is a common call nowadays to the railway offices by the travelling public. The company reports a very heavy demand of late for this type of accommodation and this has necessitated operation of bedroom sleeping cars on the runs between Montreal and Quebec, Montreal and Toronto, Ottawa and Toronto, Toronto and Detroit, and Montreal and Detroit.

Privacy, comfort and the last word in convenience and luxury are features of this latest development in overnight travel by Canadian Pacific as expressed in these single and double bedroom and compartment cars, which represent the equivalent of the finest of hotel accommodations. They provide all the luxurious appointments of individual private rooms with a real bed that assures deep and refreshing sleep. Each room has toilet, lavatory, electric fan, overhead ventilator with exhaust fan, reading lamp and other conveniences, the whole being decorated in restful colors. In the double bedroom cars an overland bed may be opened from the wall, if desired, affording additional facilities.

Some further features of the sleeping cars may be enumerated, which make the hours of sleep so refreshingly delightful. Temperatures are controlled thermostatically throughout the train, roller bearings assure smoothness of motion; coil spring mattresses invite restful slumber; heavily padded carpeting harmonizes with interior arrangements, creating a general soothing effect. Berths are wide and long and unusually roomy. The service is presented to travellers as a master piece of transportation luxury and comfort. It is the realization of all those refinements of art and economy of which travel equipment designers long have dreamed. From the inception of this new service has been increasing favor among travellers who distinguish between good average service and perfection in travel. The word "modern" hardly fulfils and most indicative expression is this one.

In the women's dressing rooms attached to the sleeping cars there is real comfort and satisfaction. The most fastidious woman will find facilities such as she would expect to see in a first-class hotel. Mirrored dressing table and other toilet accessories provide maximum accommodations without overcrowding. Here are vanity chairs, conveniently placed, ample artificial and natural light in soft colored shades, spotlessly white lavatories with hot and cold running water, specially designed soap and a never-ending supply of clean linen. This affords the requisite pendant to refreshing sleep—perfect toilette.

The men are treated in like fashion. They too have commodious dressing rooms where they can foregather not only for the purpose of making their toilet but also for an enjoyable smoke before retiring or after they have slept. Their rooms are perfectly lighted, well ventilated, ample supplied with lavatories of newest design and a double harmonizes with the general finish and furnishings.

Recurrence Of Drought Periods

Practical Research Will Assist In Acquiring Better Knowledge Of Climatic Conditions

The Hon. J. F. Bryant, K.C., chairman of the Saskatchewan Commission on Conservation of Water and Afforestation, issued the following statement to the press today.

Believing that a mistake had been made in the past in Saskatchewan and Western Canada in that no systematic or practical research had been carried on in the matter of climate and weather conditions, particularly when the farmers who are the backbone of the Province have suffered so much as a result of drought, frost and flood, and when through the lack of practical knowledge on the subject, on account of drought conditions during the past few years, a large fertile area of southern Saskatchewan has been badly injured by the blowing of the soil, the Commission on Conservation appointed a sub-committee to study weather conditions, climate, rainfall and water supply in their relation to the general causes and effects operating in the drought areas of the Province and surrounding territory.

The committee consists of Hon. J. F. Bryant, Dr. T. A. Patrick and Dr. W. W. Cowan. The committee have been working on the subject for two months in reading carefully the latest authorities on the subject, and in order to get the very latest information with particular reference to Saskatchewan conditions, have written to some of the world's greatest authorities on the subject, including C. P. Bowden, Honorary Secretary of the Royal Meteorological Society, London, England, Ellsworth Huntington, Dr. Andrew E. Douglass of the University of Arizona, the Carnegie Institute of Washington, the Smithsonian Institution of Washington, and A. J. Conner, Climatologist for Canada. We have written to the Secretary of Agriculture of the United States and of the States of Montana and North Dakota, inquiring whether they have made any investigation of the subject and requesting that they join with us in the matter of research, so that we can share in the results obtained, and take united action to combat conditions if deemed advisable.

Mr. E. E. Clements in a very able work on "Plant Indicators" makes certain observations on conditions in the western United States which are equally applicable to conditions in Saskatchewan.

"A study of settlement in the West since 1865 reveals the fact that it corresponds more or less closely to the climatic cycle. The exceptions are afforded by the rapid influx after the homestead act, the Kinkaid Act, etc., or after the opening of new regions. The general movement of settlers has advanced and receded in almost perfect agreement with the phases and drought periods of the climatic cycle of the West," Huntington, 1914: 86. A few years of unusual rainfall have afforded unscrupulous real-estate dealers and immigration commissioners an opportunity to dispose of even the most worthless land. The ensuing drought period then led to crop failure and the wholesale abandonment of the region, to be followed by another influx of settlers during the next wet phase. In more than one region of the West this process has been repeated three or four times, and the disastrous operation will continue until the States and the National Government recognize the necessity of proper land classification and of adequate regulation of settlement.

The knowledge that drought periods will recur is indispensable to any accurate and successful classification of land and to the economic management of dry-farm, grazing range, or forest. These results, which are of the first importance for the west, do not depend necessarily upon the accuracy of predictions based upon the sun-spot cycle. They are clearly indicated by the actual experience of the last 60 years, which not only confirms the recurrence of drought periods, but also suggests the interval. Therefore, it is clearly that it would be of the greatest value to be able to forecast the date, duration, and intensity of each drought period with some accuracy, as well as to anticipate the increasing rainfall of the wet phase. This would not only permit the tak-

"Life a Misery" From Headaches

Thanks to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills (Tonic) and a mother's advice she is well again.

"Headaches nearly drove me frantic," writes Mrs. J. F. Archibald, Inverell. "The pain would be so severe that my eyes would swell shut. Life was misery. Finally my mother saw where Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had helped someone. She bought a box and made me take them. I was so sick of doing. I had no faith, but thanks to mother's persistence and the pills I am here and well today."

ing of the necessary precautions against the disasters due to drought, but it would also make possible the development of an optimum system of management. This would enable the farmer to at his crops and methods of tillage to the variations in rainfall and would permit the stockman to increase or decrease his herds or to vary his supplies of forage with the wet and dry phases of the cycle. In short, the cyclic management of all the basic practices of the West would provide the maximum insurance against loss or disaster and would afford the greatest possible annual returns."

Snowden's Advice

Gives Advice To Young Men From His Own Experience

There are few careers in the world today more full of inspiration for youth than that of the man now styled Viscount Snowden but better known throughout the English-speaking world as Philip Snowden, Labor leader and former Chancellor of the British Exchequer. The new Viscount, as has been the case with so many English statesmen, has, in his time, done much writing and on the occasion of his election to the peerage, English papers have recalled certain interesting reflections made in earlier days. In one of these, Mr. Snowden uttered words of advice to young men that have much pertinence in these present days of difficulty. Here they are:

"If I may venture in a few sentences to summarize from my own experience . . . the advice I would give to the young men of today, who so much to the best of themselves and to gain the greatest happiness from life, it would be to discipline one's self to industry; to make one's self thoroughly master of the trade or profession by which a livelihood is earned; to develop a critical faculty so that the truth may be sifted from the false in controversy, and from the designs of the plausible demagogue thereby defeated; to read good books; to have some interest outside the daily occupation; to take an interest in public questions, which is a duty every citizen should fulfil; to live clean life and take healthy exercise, and above all, to realize that it is character, and not wealth or worldly position, which entitles a man to be worthy of respect, and which gives true happiness and satisfaction."—Reginald Leader.

The Dominant Nickel

More Fifty-Cent Coins Issued At Ottawa Mint Than Any Other
Denomination

The great Canadian nickel continues to dominate the operations of the mint, if the annual figures issued by the Royal Canadian Government Department mean anything. In the year just closed no fewer than 5,925,000 coins of the five-cent denomination were delivered from the mint. The number exceeded even that of the pennies, of which a paltry 5,140,000 were issued; while dimes were a poor third, only 2,294,000 being minted in 1931.

The mintmaster of the silver coin—the 50-cent piece—appears to have had little demand in this time of depression, for only 48,000 were issued the year. The humble, but never-to-be-despised, "two-bit" was coined to the value of $22,000, or 84,000 pieces, valued at 25 cents each.

In all, the Royal Canadian Mint struck 13,648,600 pieces in 1931, and issued 13,570,000.

The gross value of rough and fine gold and fine silver received by the mint last year was $30,528,176. Deliveries from that institution to the Department of Finance had a value of $35,175,551. Trade bars sold were valued at $45,451.

The mint, last year, did not coin any $10 or $5 gold pieces.

Garden Of Eden

A party of American tourists, including several women, has arrived at Moscow after visiting Merv, the oasis on the edge of the Kara-Kum Desert, the traditional site of the Garden of Eden and the cradle of the Aryan race. This remote region was formerly reached by caravan, but it is now reached by modern tourist railroad trains. It is a region of great natural beauty with rich vegetation and a profusion of animal life.

Soviet Oil Production Short

The production of oil in the Soviet Republic in 1931 amounted to 22,500,000 tons, 36 per cent. short of the program for the year, but almost 4,000,000 tons in excess of the 1930 figures.

Soviets Plan Large Increase In Acreage For 1932

Russia plans to sow 348,000,000 acres to crops for harvest next fall—8,000,000 more than last year.

This was reported by the United States agriculture department, which also said the 1931 wheat crop of Russia, the world's largest producer, "may definitely be considered a poor one."

The 1932 plan for the spring sown area calls for 222,000,000 acres compared with 214,000,000 planted last spring. The largest increase in this area, however, will be in industrial crops, such as cotton and flax, with the spring wheat acreage remaining practically the same. Spring wheat is the most important.

Another significant factor in the situation, the department's Berlin observer reported, "is the announcement by the Soviet authorities that they intend to concentrate on quality rather than quantity."

Summing up the 1931 wheat harvest, he added:

"Although yields of winter wheat were fairly satisfactory, much of the spring acreage failed to make a crop, principally because of drought." As a result, exports have been curtailed.

Sowings of winter grain last fall did not equal plans, and are below average even the preceding year. Wheat procurements from collectives are also below announced plans due to interference from peasants.

CHAPTER XI.

"The Sins Of The Fathers—"

A few days later, Jean, coming in from a long tramp across country in company with Nick and a half a dozen dogs of various breeds, discovered Tormarin lounging in a chair by the fire. He was in riding kit, having just returned from visiting an outlying corner of the estates where his bailiff had suggested that a new plantation might be made, and Jean eyed his long supple figure with secret approval. Like most well-bred Englishmen, he looked his best in kit that demanded the donning of breeches and leggings.

A fine rain was falling out of doors, and beads of moisture clung to Jean's clothes and spattered in the blown tentacles of russet hair which had escaped from beneath the little turban hat she was wearing. Apparently, however, her appearance did not rouse Tormarin to any reciprocal appreciation, for, after bestowing the briefest of glances upon her as she entered, he averted his eyes, concentrating his attention upon the misty rhapsody of smoke that drifted upwards from his cigarette.

Jean knelt down on the hearth, and, nuzzling off her rain-soaked gloves, held out her hands to the fire's cheery blaze.

"It's good-bye to all the cheering," Nick said, she said regretfully. "Nick says we're not likely to have another hard frost like the last, now."

that the weather has broken so completely."

"No. It's April next month—supposedly springtime, you know," returned Blaise indifferently.

He seemed disinclined to talk, and Jean eyed him contemptuously. His attitude towards her baffled her as much as ever. He was unfailingly courteous and considerate, but he remained, nevertheless, uncommunicative, avoiding her whenever it was politely possible, and when it was not, treating her with a cool neutrality of manner that was as complete a contrast to his demeanour when they were together at Montavon as could well be imagined. Indeed, sometimes Jean almost wondered if the events of that day they spent amid the snows had really taken place—they seemed so far away, so entirely unrelated to her present life, notwithstanding the fact that she was in daily contact with the man who had shared them with her.

"It was rather uncomplimentary of you not to come skating with us a solitary once," she remarked at last, an accent of reproach in her voice. "Was my performance on the rink at Montavon so execrable that you felt you couldn't risk it again?"

He looked up, his glance meeting hers levelly.

"You've phrased it excellently," he replied briefly. "I felt I couldn't risk it."

A sudden flash mounted to Jean's face. There was no misunderstanding the significance that underlay the curt words, which, as she was vividly aware, bore no relation whatever to her skill, or absence of it, on the ice.

Blaise made no endeavour to relieve the awkward silence that ensued. Instead, his eyes rested upon her with a somewhat quizzical expression, as though he were rather entertained than otherwise by her evident confusion. Jean felt her indignation rising.

"It is fortunate that other people are not so—nervous," she said dismally. "Otherwise I should find myself as isolated as a fever hospital."

"It is fortunate indeed," he agreed politely.

In the course of the three weeks which had elapsed since her arrival at Staple, Jean had dared several similar passages-at-arms with her host. Women-like, she was bent on getting behind his guard of reticence, on forcing him into an explanation of his altered attitude towards her—since no woman can be expected to endure that a man should completely change from an ill-suppressed ardour to a cool, impersonal detachment of manner, without achieving to know the reason why! But in every instance Tormarin had carried off the honours of war,

WHEN FOOD SOURS

ABOUT two hours after eating many people suffer from sour stomachs. They call it indigestion. It means that the stomach nerves have been over-stimulated. There is excess acid. The way to correct it is with an alkali, which neutralizes many times its volume in acid.

The right way is Phillips' Milk of Magnesia—just a tasteless dose in water. It is pleasant, efficient and harmless. Results come almost instantly. It is the approved method. You will never use another when you know.

Be sure to get the genuine Phillips' Milk of Magnesia prescribed by physicians for curing sour stomachs. One a bottle—any drug store.

parrying her small thrusts with a lacy insouciance which she found galling in its extreme.

Hilberto she had encountered little difficulty in getting pretty much her own way with the men of her acquaintance; she had sufficient of the temperament and charm of the reduced type to conjure that. But her efforts to elucidate the cause of the change in Blaise Tormarin were about as prolific of result as the efforts of a butterfly at stone-breaking.

Fortunately for the preservation of peace, at this juncture there came the sound of voices, and Lady Anne entered the room, accompanied by a visitor. Her clever, grey eyes flashed quickly from Jean's flushed face to that of her son, but as she sensed the electricity in the atmosphere, she made no comment.

"Blaise, my dear, here is Judith," she said pleasantly. "I found her wandering colourfully in the lanes, so I drove her back here. She has just returned from town, and for some reason her car wasn't at the station to meet her."

"I wired home saying what time I should reach Combe Bay," exclaimed the new-comer. "But as I was rather late reaching Waterloo, I rashly entrusted the wire to a small boy to send off for me, and I'm afraid he's played me false. I should have had to trudge the whole way back to Wilton Ferry if Lady Anne hadn't happened along."

Lady Anne turned to Jean, and, laying an affectionate hand on her arm, drew her forward.

"Jean, let me introduce you to Mrs. Craig. My new acquisition, Judith," she went on contentedly. "A daughter. I always told you I wanted one. Now I've borrowed someone's else's." Jean found herself shaking hands with a slender distinctive-looking woman who moved with a slow languorous grace that was almost snake-like in the peculiar unobtrusiveness. She gave the impression that she had no bones in her body, or that if she had, they had never hardened properly but still retained the pliability of cartilage.

She was somewhat sallow—the consequence, it transpired later, of long residence in India, with stilled, slate-coloured eyes, appearing almost purple in shadow, and a straight, thin-lipped mouth. Jean decided that she was not in the least pretty, though attractive in an odd, feline way, and that she must be about thirty-two. As a matter of fact, Judith Craig was forty, but no one would have guessed it—and she would certainly not have confessed it.

Presently Nick, who had been personally supervising the feeding of his beloved dogs, joined the party, greeting Mrs. Craig with the easy informality of an old friend, and shortly afterwards Blaise brought in the tea-things.

"And where is Burke?" enquired Blaise of Mrs. Craig, as he handed her tea. "Didn't he come back with you?"

"Geoffrey? Oh, no. He's not coming down till the end of April. You know he detests Willow Ferry in the winter—heavily wet swamp," he calls it! He's dividing his time between London and Leicestershire—London, while that long frost stopped all hunting."

Mrs. Craig was evidently on a footing of long-established intimacy with the Staple household, and Jean, listening quietly to the interchange of news and of little personal happenings, regarded her with rather critical interest. She was not altogether sure that she liked her, but she was quite sure that wherever her lot might be cast, Judith Craig would never occupy the position of a non-entity. She had considerable charm of manner, and there was a quite unexpected fascination about her smile—unexpected, because, when in repose, her thin lips lay folded together in a straight and somewhat forbidding line, whereas the moment they relaxed into a smile they assumed the most delightful curves, and two little lines, which should have been dimples but were not, cleft each cheek on either side of the mouth.

All at once Mrs. Craig turned to Jean as though she had made up her mind about something over which she had been hesitating.

"Have I seen you anywhere before?" she asked, her charming smile softening the abruptness of the question. "Your face is so extraordinarily familiar."

Jean shook her head.

"I don't think so," she answered. "I'm sure I should remember you if we met anywhere. Besides I've lived abroad all my life; this is only my first visit to England."

"I think I can explain," said Lady Anne, with a deliberation about her manner that suggested she was about to make a statement which was aware would be of some special interest to at least one of the party. "Jean is Glyn Peterson's daughter; so of course you see a likeness, Judith."

Little Helps For This Week

"If any man will come after me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross daily, and follow Me"—Luke ix. 23.

Mine is a daily cross of petty cares. Of little duties pressing on my heart.

Of little troubles hard to reconcile. Of inward troubles overcome in part.

I dare not lay it down; I only ask That, adding up my daily cross, I may Follow my Master, humbly, step by step.

Through clouds and darkness, unto perfect day.

Christ comes to us morning by morning to present to us for the day then opening divers little crosses, thwartings of our own will interferences with our plans, disappointments of our little pleasures. Do we kiss them, and take them up and follow in His rear, like Simon the Cyrenian, or do we toss them from us scornfully, because they are so little, and wait for some great affliction to approve our patience and resignation to His will? Despise not little crosses; for when taken up and lovingly accepted at the Lord's hand, they have made men meet for a crown, even the crown of righteousness and life, which the Lord hath promised to them that love Him—Edward Meyrick Gouldham.

Athletes and Heart Trouble

No Such Thing As "Athlete's Heart," Says University Professor

"Athlete's heart" is non-existent so far as two University of Wisconsin professors have been able to determine. Canadian boys long guarded against overworking athletes in the belief that too strenuous competition resulted in enlarged hearts and a consequent loss to efficiency. Experiments at Madison have shown no evidence of hypertrophy in athletes. Dr. Walter J. Meek and Prof. J. A. E. Byrster, professors of physiology made observations on 83 men and 84 women at the university. All had indulged in four years of high school athletics and at least two years of college athletics.

"SICK HEADACHE?"

It is not necessary to give in to headaches. It is just a bit old-fashioned! The modern woman who feels a headache coming on any time, takes some tablets of Aspirin and heads it off.

Keep Aspirin handy, and keep your engagements. Headaches, systemic pains, come at inconvenient times. So do colds. You can cut them before they're fairly started if you'll only remember this handy, harmless form of relief. Carry it in your purse and insure your comfort while shopping; your evening's pleasure at the theatre. Those little nagging aches that bring a race of "nerves" by day are ended in a jiffy. Pains that once kept people home are forgotten half an hour after taking Aspirin! You'll find these tablets always help. In every package of Aspirin tablets are seven directions in which cover colds, headaches, sore throat, toothache, neuralgia, neuritis, sciatica, and even rheumatism.

The tablets stamped Bayer won't fail you, and can't harm you. They don't depress the heart. They don't upset the stomach. So take them whenever you need them, and take them often. And the pain Aspirin is made in Canada.

Another quilting bee is being held shortly and many are looking forward to attending, same as real social times are enjoyed.

The members of the W.L. wish to thank the two parties, Mr. M. Woods and Mr. Wm. Coates, who have done the janitor work at the Hall during January and February, also Mr. Everett Blain, for hauling a load of coal, gratis.

The men hauling wood from Nisbet are regretting the absence of snow for sleighing, but perhaps the weatherman will be kind enough to send them some more, although the daily pedestrian doesn't wish him to do so, especially when the walk to their daily duties compels a tramp through fields of haled grain.

Those who were fortunate enough to attend the lecture given on the sinking of the Lusitania, which happened in 1915, were afforded a real instructive treat. Mr. Williams, the lecturer, was one of the survivors and besides being a fluent speaker, possessed a beautiful voice and treated us to several songs.

The monthly meeting of the W.L. was held at the home of Mrs. Garnet Tighe. Owing to the condition of the roads many members were unable to be present. There was no new business transacted and the paper on "Education and Better Schools" was given and many of the parents were very interested and made many interesting discussions. The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Shultz, when she and Mrs. Ed. Barnes will entertain. All hope to see our president there next time and well again. The meeting adjourned with a vote of thanks to the hostesses Mrs. Roberts and Mrs. G. Tighe.

The Whist and Five Hundred benefit social given under the auspices of the local W.L. proved to be a very enjoyable affair. Several of the Didsbury residents attended. The prizes for whist were awarded to—ladies, Mrs. Ed. Barnes, and the draw for the cents was won by Stanley Mosley. The prizes for five hundred went to Mrs. Ellis Barnes and Lewis Sprague. The members of the Institute wish to thank the donors of the prizes, who this case were business folks in town, also Mrs. Wm. Coates for her efforts in getting same. After lunch, dancing was indulged in for a short time. The M.C.'s for the evening were Mr. Blain and Mr. Max Woods.
